

Split the data into test and train in the ratio 20:80. Use the training data to train logistic and LDA model. Use the test data to create confusion matrix and compare their performance